Dear Marginal person,

Just got your outregous letter and would like to take an hour to destroy you but since time is short I'll do it in a minute. Actually you do such a good job yourself you need no help from anyone.

Here are my days off in May so you can write your schedule accordingly. I'm off May 1 - May 4 but since you screwed around for so long I've scheduled a 4-day hiking trip to Joshua Tree National Monument. It should be nice without you. Then I'm off Mon/Tues - May 10 & 11 with nothing planned except one early morning eye appointment on Tuesday. Our current schedule expires May 15, however, I've requested off May 22, 23, 24 (Sat, Sun, Mon) (and I usually get what I request or I throw an awful hissy fit.)

Anyhow that's the weekend I'd really like for you to come down (as I plan to be out of town at the Renaissance Fair, May 22 or 23) If you promise to behave yourself I might let you ride in the back and have an ice cream cone.

The way you are going you may be in a home before May 22nd so just watch yourself.

Blandly,
Jess
